Other Promotions previously announced include a large number in Medicine and Surgery.

Three lecturers in medicine were promoted to the rank of assistant professor, these being Dr. Richard Vance Ward, Dr. Barney David Usher and Dr. R. C. Bennejs.

Three lecturers in surgery were also promoted to the rank of assistant professor: Dr. Stewart G. Baxter, Dr. Harold Sylvester Dolan and Dr. Eric A. McNaughton.

Dr. George Burwell Maugham and Dr. William R. Foote were promoted from the rank of lecturers in obstetrics and gynecology to assistant professors in the department.

pointees have received all or part of their education in the United States.

Dr. Keith B. Callard has been appointed Assistant Professor of Economics. Professor Callard received his B.Sc. from London, coming to McGill in 1948 as Sessional Lecturer in Economics and Political Science. He also became Assistant Warden of Douglas Hall in 1949. Dr. Callard is returning after two years at Harvard where he obtained his Ph.D. His field of specialization is public administration.

Assistant Professor John Dales, also of the Economics Department, has been promoted from Lecturer, which position he has filled since 1949. Professor Dales received his B.A. from Toronto, his M.A. from Harvard. He has also taught at Toronto and Simmons College in Boston. His specialty is business history.

In the field of sociology here, there are two new faces, Dr. Jacob Fried, Assistant Professor of Sociology, has joined the staff in succession to Dr. Fred Voigt (resigned). He has his A.B. from Temple University, and his Ph.D. from Yale. Dr. Fried's specialty is Ethnology. He has worked among the Ute Indians of Utah, and the Tarahumara in Mexico.

Dr. F. Elkin, Assistant Professor of Sociology has joined the staff after teaching at the University of California from 1948 to 1951. He was assistant Professor at the University of Missouri in 1951-52. Professor Elkin received his A.B., A.M., and Ph.D. at Chicago. He has done some work in the sociological analysis of films, and in urban sociology.

Assistant Professor of English S. W. Porter has been promoted from Lecturer. He has his A.B., M.A., and is completing the requirements for Ph.D. Mr. Porter is giving

Will the Smiles be There Saturday?

THE REDMAN BAND is depicted here surrounded by a jubilant crowd after a football victory last year. By the smiles on the faces of the spectators and the excitement which they are exhibiting, it is easy to see that McGill was the victor. Will the same jubilation be exhibited after the game against Queen's this Saturday?

Cheer The Team!

A Mass Pep Rally, the first for all undergraduates students this year, is expected to attract several hundred football fans to Molson Stadium tomorrow evening.

A varied number of attractions to include introduction of Vic Obeck, director of athletics, and members of the senior football team.

One of the highlights of the rally will be the burning of an effigy of a rugged Queen's football player which is being made by the Freshman Reception Committee. Cheerleaders will be on hand to lead the crowd in cheers and to top off the event, there will be dancing to recordings at the Union.

Debating Union To Hold Novice Trials

The Debating Union Society will hold novice debating trials on Thursday, October 16.

These trials are for those students who have never before taken part in college debating and will enable the Society to place its new members in either inter-class, inter-faculty or intercollegiate debates. The Society executive has announced that it is necessary for all those wishing to take part in debating this year to be present at the trials.

Trials for experienced debaters will take place on Friday, October 17. The Debating Union Society is financed by student funds, which enable the members each year to make a number of trips. On these trips the McGill students debate against other colleges in Canada and the United States. American Women's colleges have been asking McGill for a debating team to compete with them.

Those students who show the greatest merit, talent and enthusiasm in debating will be selected for the intercollegiate debates which will be held at various times during the year. They will be sent on these road trips, said a member of the executive.

Dancing Redmen Ready for Game

There'll be a hot time in the old stadium on Saturday! McGill's bandmen will have Arthur Murray equalled when they go through their new routines for the Queen's-McGill game.

Startled fans will see the Redman Band cavorting merrily about the field between halves to the melodious strains of "Destination Dixie." New steps demonstrated will have such names as "The Cock" and "The Square." It will certainly be a different show from the one put on last week in Toronto, or far that matter from any other, for we now have Canada's only college dancing band.

Lively new routines have been worked out. For example, "The Cock" is performed by plunging the left foot forward and pivoting back and forth, sprinkling the whole with a wide variety of leg kicks. "The Square," as the name implies, is a type of moving square formation.

TIME!

Toronto, Ont. — (CUP) — From time to time other papers print articles and editorials that are particularly meaningful to college students. Here is one that can be directly applied to the average university student.

"There is no more valuable commodity in the world than time. 'Some may look upon money as a more important phase of wealth, yet money is comparatively worthless. If you lose money or spend it foolishly, it may be replaced, but no man has ever been able to regain a lost second of time. 'Yet money and time in common represent mediums of exchange valuable only when used to obtain something else. 'Time is valuable only while it is being used. If you spend it for education, this much is certain—no one will ever take it from you, and you can use that education again to provide a happier, better way to live.'—This from a paper which is a real expert on time: The San Quentin News.

SEC Investigates Bookstore Profits

15 M.P.H. Speed Limit Approved

The Council last night approved the Regulations set up by the Department of Buildings and Grounds that a speed limit of 15 miles per hour be enforced on the campus and that students be prohibited from parking in lots other than those allotted as student parking areas.

The parking areas designated for students use are the lot at the corner of Milton, which now holds 50 student cars, and the area on the east side of the Currie Gym which can hold another 25 cars.

The motion for the Purchasing of Floor Cleaning and Polishing equipment for the McGill Union was approved by the Council.

The Council also approved of the appointment of Ann Skaitth as Chairman of the Junior Prom and of Mary Anne Currie as a delegate for the New York Herald Tribune Forum.

The Council also passed a motion sending John Scott and Pat Vos as representatives and Jacques Morin and Jack Greenstein as observers to the I.S.S. Conference to be held at Laval University from October 17-19.

McGill, CFCF Join to Offer Radio Courses

All students interested in radio may enroll in the Radio Workshop at a special meeting to be held in the New-Club room of the Union today at 1 p.m.

The Radio Workshop, in co-operation with radio station CFCF, will be offering courses in all phases of radio production to interested students this year. The course is free to all students enrolled at McGill, and will be given by members of the staff of CFCF and other specialists in the field of radio.

The curriculum will involve courses in commercial drama, announcing, radio operation, writing, and overall production. The course will last 17 weeks and will also include (Continued on Page 4)

Reduced Tramfare Possibility Checked

By SELMA SKOLL

It was reported at the Third Students' Executive Council meeting last night that the profits of the Bookstore have greatly increased. These profits are donated annually by the University to the Students Society and the Women's Union.

It was in view of this fact that a committee was set up by the S.E.C. to investigate the matter and decide on the allocation of these profits. A complete financial report will be released by the Bookstore as soon as it is available.

It was recommended by last year's Council that the profits of the session 1950-51, amounting to $800, be set aside in a special Students Society Account to be used to finance a Students' Lending Library containing "serious books of a non-academic nature."

Because of this increase in profits, the Council felt it advisable to set up a committee to investigate the various uses to which this money could be used.

This committee, headed by Ted

Waugh, is to report back to the Council at its next meeting on Nov. 5, 1952.

RED AND WHITE REVUE

Because of the fact that Bob Robinson, who was appointed to produce this year's Red and White Revue, did not return to college, the S.E.C. has been forced to look for a new producer. Up to now it has not been able to do so.

Last night the S.E.C. appointed Ian Ross, a former assistant producer of the revue, to become chairman of an interim committee to examine the structure and the organization of the revue and look into the problem of finding a producer for this year's show.

Reduced Tramfares

The Council also heard a letter from the University of Montreal asking for the support of the S.E.C. in its campaign for a reduction of tramfare for all students. Last year's Council had passed motion supporting this move and a special petition had been sent to Tramways Commission who are studying the matter.

In view of this, the S.E.C. last night appointed a committee, headed by Jacques Morin, to discuss the matter of reduced fares with the U. of M. This committee will however not take any actions on the part of the student body without reporting to and getting the approval of the S.E.C.

SCIENCE - FICTION
Science Fiction Society will hold a meeting in the McGill Union Workshop at eight p.m. tonight.

List Outlined Of Campus Events

A list of major campus dates including dances, Combined Charities, Athletic Nights, Red and White Revue shows and the Winter Carnival dates were released today by the Dates Committee.

The first major event is Activities Night on October 15. Various clubs on the campus will set up booths in the union for students to inspect and decide which they will join.

Two faculty dances then follow. These are the Engineer Fall Informal on Oct. 25 and the Dental Fall Informal on Oct. 31. Both of these dances will be held in the Currie Gym.

At the end of October students will be asked to contribute their blood to the Blood Donors Campaign.

The Red and White Revue, a musical comedy presented annually by the students of the university, will be held this year from January 23-28.

Some of the dances to be held during the second term are the Plumbers' Ball, the R.V.C. Formal, the Phys. Ed. Formal and the Dental Formal.

The big event of the year, the McGill Winter Carnival, will be held from February 19-21. Slated for this weekend are a hockey game, a torchlight parade and the Winter Carnival Ball.

Other events such as a number of debates and Arena Wing Productions are also listed among the events on the dates list for this year.

Maurice Samuel At Hillel Tuesday

"Joseph and His Brothers" will be the subject of a talk by Maurice Samuel to be delivered to Hillel in the Union Ballroom on Tuesday, October 14, at 1 p.m.

This talk, a presentation of Thomas Mann's classic tetralogy and its bearing on present-day Jewish thought, will be the first in the Cultural program of Hillel for this year.

This lecture has been arranged for the Union in order to accommodate as large an audience as possible and to make the most use of the 1 to 2 lunch hour.

For more than twenty-five years Maurice Samuel, through his lectures and writings, has been an outstanding and tireless interpreter and exponent of Jewish values to the Jewish and non-Jewish world.

All Hillelites are asked to reserve this date now in their calendars and to invite their friends on the Campus to this event," a committee member said.

MEDICAL ADMISSION TEST

Pulp and Paper Research Here

An organization which plays an integral part in the progress of Canada's number one industry, the billion dollar pulp and paper industry, makes its home right here on our campus. The Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada is located on University street, on the edge of the campus just above Sherbrooke street.

The Institute is jointly sponsored by the Dominion Government, the

Heavier Loan Applications At Toronto

Toronto, Ont. — (CUP) — At Toronto today, Mr. E. A. Macdonald, administrator of the Students' Loan Fund, stated that applications to the fund have been heavier this year. Mr. Macdonald attributed the increase to the higher costs students are faced with today.

The fund, drawn from the annual surplus of the Students' Administrative Council, has two divisions: emergency aid to veterans waiting for DVA loans, and financial help for other needy students. Mr. Macdonald wished to stress the fact that the student must be in dire need if a loan is to be granted. The money must be used for one purpose only: to help the student begin or continue his studies at the University. "We are not running a loan company," he emphasized. "There is a limited amount of money in the fund, and it must be put to the best use possible."

The current capital of the fund is reported to be $12,000.

The fund has suffered almost no losses in the many years of its existence. With evident satisfaction, Mr. Macdonald remarked, "The promptness and faithfulness with which all loans have been repaid is a tribute to the honesty and integrity of the students in this University."

The Islamic Institute

For East-West Understanding

One of the striking features of the world situation today is the awakening of a mutual and vital interest between the Orient and the West. The uneducated, underfed peoples of the East are coming to a realization of the prosperity of the West, and are turning from morose fatalism to a gleam of hope. The West, on the other hand, has a comparable awareness of the Orient, because of its current importance in the political juggling match with Soviet Russia.

Thus, more than ever before, these two great areas, Orient and Occident, are regarding each other with vital and increasing interest. It may well be that on this awareness depends the course of future history.

Perhaps the most important segment of the people of the Orient at the moment, are the followers of Islam, populating much of North Africa, the Middle East, and Pakistan. Both politically and economically, this area is of tremendous importance to the rest of the world.

The people of this area are in the middle; on either side there stand the two Colossi, Democracy and Communism. Islam is at the crossroads; the people of Islam have to choose their path.

Their decision is for us a crucial one; one that may well mean the difference between the most destructive war the world has yet seen, and a gradual relaxing into peaceful ways.

In such a situation, practical steps toward increased mutual understanding assume a tremendous significance. Projects such as the Colombo Plan, Point Four Aid, the work of ISS in the Orient, and the ISS Seminar in India which was planned last year, demand our attention and consideration.

The setting up at McGill of an Institute for Islamic Studies thus represents a major step in East-West understanding. The bilateral nature of the Institute also is of extreme importance; not only will the Institute increase Western understanding of the Orient, but the representatives of the Orient will learn much of the Western world.

As with the Air Law Institute, the Institute of Islamic Studies is a McGill first. It is one of which we have every reason to be proud.

The Decision Is Made

Dear Sir,—

Many students are awaiting the coming meeting of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS) with great anticipation; for, certainly, the plan to invite an exchange of Canadian and Soviet students will, at least, be put into action.

Last year, McGill students voted unanimously in favour of this plan, and many other large universities, throughout the country, have endorsed this idea.

Most students share the false presumption the NFCUS will be asked to accept the plan of a Soviet exchange. We should realize that it is NFCUS's duty to follow through all decisions made by the majority of Canadian university students, and not to decide whether or not to accept such decisions.

Our NFCUS representative should strive to fulfill the wishes of the students he represents by stating our stand on the issue, and by making sure that NFCUS send an invitation to the students of the Soviet Union immediately.

Excuses, to the effect that it is too late to do anything this year, should not be accepted; but a demand that the scheme be executed at once, should be handed NFCUS.

Allowing The Male to Talk

Dear Sir,—

To my infinite horror, once again a slur has been cast upon the intelligence of us women.

We must therefore examine several points of interest. In a conversation between two human beings, each likes to be right. If the female reveals her true brain-power by being right, and has the last word, the male becomes sour at once. For peace's sake, the female will then adopt an attitude of submissive listening, allowing the male to talk; thus exhibiting better manners than his, as it is well known that a bore is one who talks when one wishes him to listen.

As for conversation itself—the main male topics are "cars, sports, drinking, the gang, and other girls," the last of which is infuriating in the extreme. Furthermore, compared to the average engineer, a follower of the most manly professions, a female is a mine of general information and topical chatter.

Choose an engineer at random, talk to it, and you will see. Now, when we present a theme which requires the use of logic to men, they become vague, and make bad jokes about our reasoning. It is really men's logic which is at fault, however, as it follows nothing but facts. They only realise that which is apparent and provable, like boiled eggs.

There is, of course, a difference between professional chatter and social froth. Few will talk fashion when shop is the theme; few should talk shop when fashion is de rigueur. Just in what circumstances has "C" met his women?

Normally one would ignore "C" as an unfortunate accident; but in these troubled times, coupled with a great increase in the moron population, divers points have to be made clear which were assumed before.

Is Our Face Red?

Dear Sir,—

I was extremely DISillusioned to read your article yesterday telling of the DIS-couraging results of various tests in basic English which have bin given to collich stooidents DIStributed across the country.

After one has becum acustomed, down the years, to look up to our universities as the Senters of lerning of our country, such DIS-closures are certainly DISappointing.

Of course, one shud not be too DISparing with the DISgusting results from Tranna. After all, our own Daily staff DISplay on the front page the DISgrasful fact that they can't spell DISastrous.

CBC-TV

Censorship and Democracy

Dear Sir,—

Mr. Sol Tolchinsky in the letter column of Tuesday's Daily does one of the most thorough jobs of confusing an issue that has appeared in the Daily in all of twenty-four hours.

The point at issue seems to be the right of M. Duplessis to censor CBC television. The statement to which I object principally is "... is Mr. Duplessis' ambition an undemocratic one? Not at all."

Are we then to take it that control of what a person may see, hear, read and, as a logical consequence of control of information, what one may think is pure and perfect Democracy? It is not merely censorship of television programmes that Mr. Tolchinsky is here defending, but every form of censorship. The censorship being defended in Quebec is a symptom of the totalitarianism we decry so loudly abroad. This is known technically as waving the bull in front of the red flag.

The rights of a majority with regard to material presented through radio, television or the newspapers do not include the right to prevent the appearance of that which they do not care to see or do not agree with. There recourse is simple, turn the set off, don't buy the paper. One who feels his rights are contravened when another is able to see something of his choice not agreeable to the would be censor is being unreasonable.

"Censorship itself is not evil and our movies have not suffered because we have a Quebec Board of Censors" says Mr. Tolchinsky. One can but be charitable and assume that the institution in which Mr. Tolchinsky belongs is one for the deaf and blind and not for the insane. Several excellent pictures of recent years have been so badly cut as to destroy the story line, and others banned completely.

In conclusion it may be noted that the censor is usually the foulest minded individual in the community. He sees the world through muck-coloured glasses, and would find objectionable matter in The Bobby Twins at Camp Killcare.

Islamic Institute Formulates Correct Terminology: Understanding of East

by Dick Purser

"... These exploiters are seeking to drive the nations of the world to a massacre and to utilize distant countries as a theatre for their disastrous enterprise. At one time we, the Arabs, were in the habit of following behind such people. We served their policies and objects and helped to implement their wishes. Our countries then were made theatres of war, and our people consumed by its fire as an offering on the altar of these vicious schemes. But God has now removed from over our eyes the curtain that blinded us from perceiving the truth, and we have become a nation fully aware of its true position and conscious of where its interests lie and of the path it should pursue. No more shall we be led like helpless sheep to a war which has nothing to do with us. Such ambitions shall never be attained by the powerful despots again."

As we read today in our own papers screaming headlines of "Moslem Fanatics Riot..." so do the people of Islam read bitter, ringing words of resentment against the Western Powers, such as the above, slashed from the violent pen of the Arab writer who signs himself "Abu Muhammed" during the height of the Suez crisis.

While we hear Muslims described as uneducated, fanatical nationalists, so Islam hears the Western powers described as nations of rich, greedy imperialists.

With so few Westerners in Islam and so few Muslims in the west, both peoples are besieged by largely one-sided news reports and commentaries, and are only too ripe to believe what they are told.

It is largely an error of misunderstanding. Whatever politicians, writers and governments may do, truly friendly relations between Islam and Christianity cannot be achieved without true understanding between the Muslim peoples and the Christian peoples.

That is the purpose of the newly founded Institute of Islamic Studies at McGill. As Dr. Inshaq Musa Al-Hussaini, Visiting Professor of the Institute and formerly of the American University of Beirut, says: "My purpose in being here is to interpret Islam to the West and to interpret the West to Islam."

Politics are not the primary concern of the Institute, although they are of necessity touched upon, especially in the evening extension courses on Modern Islam. It is more concerned with teaching Islamic history and culture, for this forms the basis for understanding the state of Islam in the modern world.

Dr. H. A. Reed, Assistant Director of the Institute, emphasizes its importance to McGill in that it will (a) offer students an opportunity to learn about a religion which is the dominant force in the life of well over 300,000,000 people; and (b) attract Moslem students and make itself better known by pioneering in an inter-cultural endeavour linking professors and students from the east and the west in a joint effort.

In this respect the Institute is probably the first of its kind in America to place emphasis on having an equal number of Muslim and Western students and professors, instead of accenting Westerners. It is to be hoped that by living, studying and working together these scholars will be able to spread unbiased, truthful information to their respective peoples, thus making a practical effort towards better understanding in the future.

"Well, here we are. I'm sorry I took so long but I just had to put my hair up before showing you the place. I'm glad you found something to read. What? You didn't really almost finish that Hemingway novel in the magazine. I wasn't that long. Now, was it?"

"And now I guess you'd like to see our little apartment in the basement. This way. Mind your head. These stairs can be pretty tricky but you can get used to them. This is your private door here. Of course we don't want you coming in any later than eleven."

Correct Terminology: A Sign of Good Manners

by John Scott

A believer in Islam, the religion of one of every seven people in the world, feels puzzled when he is called a Moslem and misunderstood when he's called a Muhammadan.

The correct form is Muslim.

He similarly feels misunderstood, and is occasionally offended, when his religion is called Muhammedanism rather than Islam, the correct name.

Dr. Wilfred Cantwell Smith, director of McGill's new Institute of Islamic Studies, thinks that Canadians and Americans are slowly learning to use the correct forms, but that as a matter of courtesy the process should be speeded up.

Use of the forms Muhammadan and Muhammedanism simply indicates to a Muslim that the user doesn't understand what Muslims believe, Dr. Smith said.

"The word Muhammadan was invented by Christians, without malice of course, to denote the followers of Muhammed on the pattern of the word Christian denoting the followers of Christ," Dr. Smith said.

"The Muslim objection is that in their religion, the status given to Muhammed is not comparable to the status Christians give to Christ.

"In some ways the whole Islamic movement is a protest against what they considered was the deification of a human being by Christians. They not only don't worship Muhammed, but emphasize the fact that they don't worship him.

"In fact, if one were to sum up Islam in a sentence, it would be 'Man mustn't worship anyone or anything except God.' They claim that Muhammed, the last of the prophets, is the messenger who brought this idea from God.

"The use of Muhammadan for Muslim and Muhammedanism for Islam doesn't excessively irritate Muslims. But it bothers them. It indicates we're not really trying to understand what they believe," Dr. Smith said.

"It's a kind of bad manners on fully sorry if it's made your nose bleed.

"Now, isn't that a real bed! Of course it don't stand up any too good these days, but that's real brass. Oh you don't need to worry about that—my husband can fix anything.

"Well, there aren't really two rooms. I just put it in the paper that way to give some idea of all the space down here. See, you've got this whole corner of the basement to eat and study in, and the sink is through there and past those pipes. Yes, laundry tubs."

"Of course you'd have to come down a couple of days early and help clear all this junk we've accumulated on the floor. But we never like to throw anything out, because that's just when you need it. We could probably fix this old drop-leaf table up as a desk.

"You'll be cooking on this. Lift that cardboard box down and have a look at it. Don't mind the rust. It works and that's the main thing isn't it? I used to do my canning on it in our old house, but I haven't had the energy, what with the children. Yes, that's them play-

CAMPUS LINKED UP: Heated tunnels and glassed-in ground-level passageways connect five major buildings on the campus of McGill's Macdonald College offering "Clan Macdonald" year-round protection from the elements during a session on the St. Anne de Bellevue grounds. The Men's Residence tunnel at Mac is similar to the Arts Building. Library passage at McGill but nothing on the Montreal campus is comparable with the curving ground-level "Arctic Circle."

Tunnels Found Handy For MacDonald Clan

MACDONALD COLLEGE—Come rain or snow or sleet or hail, the college student, like the postman, is expected to complete his appointed rounds of lectures.

Without getting soaked through or snowed under? Not likely at McGill, even for the one-in-ten who lives in residence. There's little hope of avoiding snowbanks and splashing cars during four sessions of "Douglas Hall to the Union" or "Purvis Hall to RVC."

Not so at McGill's Macdonald College—even though grounds are far more spacious than at McGill. A look at the Macdonald campus (see cut) should explain why. Tunnels and enclosed ground-level passageways provide the answer, with the Main Building the focal point of campus activity. A heated tunnel links the Men's Residence to the Main Building where passages connect up with buildings containing labs and lecture rooms in physics, chemistry and biology.

courses for students in their third and fourth years, as well as succeeding Mr. Elmer Hall in the Dramatics Production course. Another new face is that of Associate Professor W. O. Judkins of Fine Arts. He has an M.A. from Harvard, where he held a Traveling Fellowship. With this he studied in most of the Western European countries. He was assistant Professor of Fine Arts at Amherst College.

R. E. Wilkinson of Victoria, B.C. has been promoted from lecturer to Assistant Professor of Physical Education. Mr. Wilkinson received his B.Sc.P.Ed. at McGill and joined the staff in 1948.

Dr. Vincent A. Saul, who received his B.Sc. at McGill in 1948 and his D.Sc. at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1952, has been appointed to Assistant Professor of Geological Sciences. Dr. Saul has been research assistant and teaching fellow at M.I.T. for four years.

Dr. E. R. Waygood has been promoted from Assistant to Associate Professor of Botany. Dr. Waygood obtained his B.S.A. and M.S.A. at Ontario Agricultural College, and his Ph.D. at the University of Toronto. His special field is plant physiology.

FROSH MEETING

A meeting of all Daily Frosh will be held today at 3 p.m. in the Club Room of the Union. Al Mindlin, News Editor, will instruct the class in head writing and the more technical points of story writing. All Daily Frosh are asked to attend, as this instruction is very important.

Other classrooms are located in the main building itself.

Co-eds journeying from the Women's Residence to the Main Building brave the cold but dry climate of a semi-circular unheated glassed-in passageway aptly named the Arctic Circle. But the "Circle" is used by the whole campus for the College Dining Hall is located in the Women's Residence.

This leaves many a Macdonald student protected from the elements on his round of labs and lecture rooms each week.

Saturday night? Time for a square dance in the Women's Gym—accessible via the Arctic Circle.

But far from being a hibernating group, the Macdonald clan regularly takes to the "great outdoors": skiing and ice skating are high on any list of campus activity. A three-day outdoor winter carnival is a top event every college year. But it's nice not to have to go out unless you want to—or that's what students who have all their lectures in connecting buildings say.

AGGIES

Not all are so fortunate—student teachers have to brave a Macdonald winter when assigned to practice teaching the college high school. "Aggies" taking certain courses have the long trek to cattle or sheep barns located a considerable distance from campus buildings. The Agricultural Building itself is ing with the dog upstairs now, but they're in bed by eight every evening.

"You don't smoke or drink or have friends in do you? No, of course you don't. I can just tell you aren't like so many of the students. You do? A little. Well, boys will be boys, but I may have to put my foot down. I'm not going to have you ruining the furniture."

"Now I don't know what church you belong to, but say, I want to tell you my husband and I have found the REAL FAITH. Through the TRUE CHURCH we have entered into the KINGDOM OF GOD. I've just finished a wonderful book—"Faith over Folly"—by a man of real faith. But once you're living here there will be plenty of time to tell you more about how you can attain the PERFECT LIFE."

"What? You're leaving so soon? But you haven't even asked how much we charge. You have another place to look at? Well, I don't see how you could do better than this at just $16.00 per week. We had a young married couple here who were glad to get it for that. No, I couldn't say why they left. But you will phone and let me know how you make out. We would like to have you with us. You will phone . . . ?"

M.O.C. Ready for Active Weekend

A three-day holiday in Canada's Laurentian playground awaits McGill students who take advantage of the McGill Outing Club's invitation to visit their house over Thanksgiving weekend.

A lengthy list of activities has been planned by the club's executive to entertain the well over a hundred students expected to appear. Saturday night a giant square dance will be held in Shawbridge village while Sunday sees a hike from Shawbridge to Ogilvie Lake and a rock climbing expedition to Val David or Ste. Marguerite.

The same evening, a chicken barbecue will satisfy the appetite worked up by the day-long exposure to the bracing Laurentian air and the healthy exercise. On Monday, a holiday for all McGill students, more hikes and rock climbing are planned.

Through membership in the MOC will not be required for this Thanksgiving Weekend, reservations must be made in advance with George in the Union Tuck-shop. This is to enable the club's catering committee to stock enough chicken 'n stuff to feed everyone. Rates for this weekend are: breakfast—35c, dinner—35c, supper—60c, bed 50c payable with reservation. The chicken dinner on Sunday night is $1.00. Transportation is provided by the Provincial Bus lines and the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways. Return fare is about $2.50 to $3.00. Signs at both railway stations and on the highway at Shawbridge point the way to the new MOC House in the village.

New Houses Construction Down in '52

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Indications are that the number of new houses completed in Canada this year will fall far below the total for 1951.

The Bureau of Statistics reported today that only 33,055 houses were completed in the first seven months of this year compared with 43,620 in the corresponding period of 1951, a decrease of 10,565.

The report showed that if the 1951 total is to be matched, 48,255 houses will have to be completed in the last five months of this year. It appeared unlikely that such fast pace could be set. The number of new houses started, although higher in June and July, was lower for the seven-month period.

The number of houses started in the first seven months of this year totalled 44,050 compared with 47,729 in the corresponding period of 1951. In June and July starts totalled 11,095 and 8,759 compared with 9,514 and 6,123 for the corresponding months of 1951.

The Bureau's report gave no reason for the decrease in the number of houses started and completed.

However, the Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has blamed high costs and a shortage of mortgage money for the drop in construction activity. In its last report, the corporation said there were indications that the house construction trend would swing upward.

More housing loans were being sought, despite high costs and higher interest rates.

No shortage of house building materials was reported.

The number of new houses completed by provinces in the seven-month period, with the corresponding figures for 1951 in brackets: Newfoundland, 453 (515); Prince Edward Island, 16 (226); Nova Scotia, 772 (1,091); New Brunswick, 506 (534); Quebec, 9,825 (13,174); Ontario, 13,410 (18,594); Manitoba, 1,023 (1,537); Saskatchewan, 525 (772); Alberta, 2,864 (3,226); British Columbia, 3,653 (3,961).

clude talks on mike technique and operation, radio salesmanship, news, special events, and the purpose of commercial radio.

The course was first given by Reo Thompson two years ago at the University of British Columbia, and was reported very favourably received. At present, Mr. Thompson is Program Manager of CFCF in Montreal. Dave Grier, in conjunction with the Radio Workshop of McGill has arranged with him for the course to be given at McGill.

The lectures will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. They will be followed by two sets of exams, one before Christmas, and one at the end of the course. Certificates will be awarded to successful students.

Arthur Weinthal said that this course is only for seriously interested students, and it will be necessary for them to attend all lectures and apply themselves to the course.

NISEI MEETING

The McGill Nisei Campus Club will hold its first general meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the New Club Room of the Union. Everyone is welcome. All members are urged to attend as the program for the forthcoming year will be discussed. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.
